

EMAS Verification

Eco-Management and Audit Scheme EC 1221/2009

In response to society's growing environmental awareness, organizations need to implement management systems to monitor and control those aspects of their activities that are related to the environment.

What is EMAS verification?

The European Eco-Management and Audit Scheme (EMAS) verification is the European standard for environmental management. This verification represents the highest level of environmental commitment for an organization in Europe.

The EMAS regulation is based on the implementation of an environmental management system according to the ISO 14001 standard and includes additional requirements such as an annual public statement of the organization's environmental performance data.

Benefits of EMAS

- Position yourself as an organization with an exemplary environmental commitment
- Gain access to markets and tenders
- Establish trust with environmentally aware clients
- Involve the organization's staff in achieving the company's environmental commitment
